

Ultra-Funny, Super-Zany Gags!

Student: Can I go use the restroom?

Teacher: I don't know, CAN you?

Student: The last time I checked, I could.

Teacher: Don't sass the teacher!

Student: Anyway, MAY I go use the restroom?

Teacher: Don't you know the rest-room is in the Teachers' Lounge? Students aren't allowed to rest on couches and sofas.

Student: Not that kind of rest-room, teacher. Restroom, as in bathroom.

Teacher: We don't have showers or tubs here at school.

Student: No! The kind with the toilets. For kids. Not the Teachers' Lounge, those seats are way too big.

Teacher: Oh, I'd be happy to let you have a toy from the Treasure Box!

Student: Not toy-let, I said toilet. The tiled-wall room with sinks and urinals.

Teacher: Well, from my experience, I've never heard of anyone who sank to the ocean floor due to a urinary tract infection.

Student: No! Stop being so literal-minded! I really need to go! To the kind with the stall doors.

Teacher: There're many stall doors at the Rodeo!

Student: No! Not horse-riding stable stall doors, restroom stall doors!

Teacher: Sure. Many teachers rest in hot tubs, of course they need their privacy!

Student: By "rest," I mean resting your buttocks on a white, porcelain seat, on top of a white, round tank, with a white lever to-

Teacher: Stop being so racist!

Student: Can I go use the restroom?
